Sisters salutes...

On June 11, Sisters VFW Post 8138 presented its annual Teacher of the Year Award which included a letter of recognition and monetary award to Jeff Schiedler, a teacher at Sisters Middle School for his support of Veterans groups in Sisters, patriotic influence in the classroom, and support of Veterans Day assemblies at the school. Vice Commander Earl Schroeder, Commander Pat Bowe, and Service Officer Bill Anttila presented the award. His name will be submitted for possible state and national recognition this summer.

TRAGEDY: School community expressed heartbreak responded to the scene, assisted by the Oregon State Police, who conducted a crash reconstruction. A medical examiner also responded to the scene to assist with the investigation.

The Deschutes County Sheriff's Office was assisted at the scene by the Oregon State Police, Black Butte Ranch Police, and Sisters-Camp Sherman Fire District.

In a message to parents, Sisters High School Principal Steve Stancliff expressed the grief of the school community:

"As a school community our hearts are broken as we mourn their passing, and our thoughts, prayers, and condolences are with their families and loved ones," he wrote. "Both of them were beloved by staff and their fellow students, and their loss is felt deeply across our entire school community."

The school district provided resources to support those who were grieving the loss.

Place a number in the empty boxes in such a way that each row across, each column down, and each small nine-box square contains all of the numbers from one to nine.

Portraits OF SISTERS

Jason Chinchen channels his passions and talents with a craftsman's touch. Hunched over a whirring CNC machine or coaxing maple, walnut, or African black wood into the guise of a dreadnought guitar while teaching his students the value of detail, are a few things you might find him doing in his classroom at Sisters High School. Music and woodworking are all too familiar to this born-and-raised craftsman and musician. "This job melds all my passions," he says of his role as a teacher. "I'd be doing this craft anyway. But here I get to translate that passion to these kids and inspire them. It's a perfect fit for me." Jason has been playing the guitar since he was six years old and crafting wood since high school — now he puts those fine-crafted instruments into use with his band, Juniper and Gin, and teaches the art of finessing wood into sound-emitting shapes. But Jason's creative interests vary. He also operates his photography business, Analogue Tintypes, a 1800s photography technique that takes as much patience and poise as crafting a wooden instrument. A single image can take up to 15 minutes to capture and develop on a glass plate. Jason moved to Sisters only four years ago but has become a fixture in the local woodworking and musical community. He says, "I'm just grateful to be here and be a part of all this."
